

Portland Metro Area Farmer's Markets accepting SNAP benefits www.oregonfarmersmarket.org

All listed farmer's markets accept EBT/SNAP benefits. Visit the information booth at the market to swipe your Oregon Trail card in exchange for tokens for market use (tokens are non-transferable).

The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, or SNAP (formerly known as Food Stamps), is a federal nutrition program to provide monthly food benefits for low-income individuals and households. Benefits can be redeemed at grocery stores and farmer's markets by using an electronic card, similar to an ATM card.

To apply for SNAP benefits, you can call Oregon SafeNet, at 1-800-723-3638. The application can be started on-line at:
www.oregon.gov/DHS/assistance/foodstamps/snap-info.shtml#apply.

Paper copies of the application are available at Portland area Department of Health Services, including:

In addition, several markets will be hosting a token matching program, where every dollar spent with EBT is matched, for up to $5 (a $5 EBT swipe would equal $10 in market tokens). This can be done each week you visit the market. The markets that currently have this program in place are: Lents International Farmer's Market and Portland Farmer's Market Buckman and King Neighborhood Markets.

Markets listed accept WIC and Senior Nutrition Coupon vouchers as well.
